

A monster bingo launched the centennial festivities last Thursday. Nora Vaughan won the $500 jackpot. Shown here is Theresa Gossel, obviously enjoying her large selection of cards.

Pakenham seniors meet

July 31 was a perfect day for an outside pot luck lunch at the beautiful grounds of Stewart House for the Seniors of Pakenham.

The group of 50 could not have been more congenial and Pakenham cooks, may I boast, are excellent. Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Stewart had everything well arranged even for those who forgot to bring their chairs. There were three visitors, Joyce Hall, daughter of Edmondton, daughter of Winnifred and Ralph McKenzie; Maudie Roberts of Doron, P.Q., sister of Elva Barratt; Mrs. Ethel Bourk of Berwin, Alberta, sister of Gordon Donaldson.

Mr. Stewart introduced to the group, Mrs. Elaine Stewart who is working with the committee on developing the Senior Support program. Mr. Stewart then gave his report on the progress so far and put forth some very logical ideas which might be satisfactorily carried out in the near future. Too few replies were received from the letters sent out so the requests from those who replied will be given priority. If you think this program is worth having in the community, don't let it go the way of the Senior Sports, and then be sorry.

Walter Bourk then spoke on the progress of the August 19-22 tour to beautiful Muskoka and districts. The $140 covers accommodation, breakfast, dinner, a boat trip and side trips. It seems to be a real bargain. There are still a few empty seats for any undecided. For entertainment after lunch we all joined in the fun playing Bingo. We played until the "prize box" was empty. Maybe many of us should take the hint! We were sorry Hilda Levy who is in Annprior Hospital, wasn't able to be with us.

The tour in August will replace our usual meeting. The next meeting will be Thursday, September 25, at which Anne Snedden, Grant Anderson and Al Stewart will be in charge.

Interval house

Lanark County Interval House is still as active as ever despite our failure to submit a regular column, what with changeover in staff and staff holidays to boot, our literary skills waned for a few weeks—but here we are again.

We may not have been as hot as the southern states but none the less we're having a struggle alongside the best of you trying to stay cool. Anyone out there with a child proof fan gathering dust—well we sure appreciate the use of it.

We have been getting lots of exercise chasing midnight invaders, namely bats!

Tours on horses

A popular way to see the Central Experimental Farm is to sit back in the comfort of the Laffs Ho wagon and let the magnificent team of Clydesdales do the walking.

Every weekday from 10 am until 3:30 pm from 2 pm until 3:30 pm the Clydesdales draw wagonloads of visitors around the Farm. The free tours will continue through until Thanksgiving.

The tour route is about one mile and a trip lasts 15 to 20 minutes.

The Clydesdales are particular favorites with the children because of their size and their gentle nature. There are five of these horses kept at the Farm.

Signing ceremony

by Douglas J. Wiseman, MPP Lanark

With the heat of the summer and the use of the waterways in Lanark County, my constituents must be interested in an intergovernmental signing ceremony which was held in Ottawa in June, to commemorate the $14 million Rideau River Stormwater Management Study aimed at protecting the aesthetic and recreational values of the river and its tributaries.

Environment Minister Harry Pearson said: "The Rideau River is a unique recreational resource which must be protected. Our main objective is to develop a stormwater management strategy that will enhance the recreational use of the Rideau River for swimming, boating and fishing."

The study is aimed at a comprehensive evaluation of stormwater runoff from both urban and agricultural areas, the associated pollutant loadings, the effects of the pollutants on the receiving water, and the effectiveness of techniques of removing pollutants entering the water from urban stormwater runoff.

Stormwater will pick up many contaminants such as road debris, road salt or fertilizer off the land and carry this into the storm sewers. These run directly into the area rivers, rendering them unsafe for recreational activities.
