

Almonte celebrates 100th anniversary of town

The antique engine belches steam as it powers a saw mill on display at the fairgrounds Monday. The antique car and steam show was one of the highlights of the holiday weekend.

David Clyde, on the bagpipes and Frank Davis, the drummer, led the Grand March at the Centennial Grand Ball last Saturday night, along with members of town council and the centennial committee.

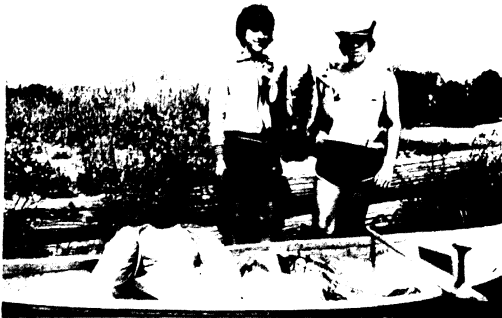

David Dickson, left, and Kevin Deegan, right, were the runners up in the soap box derby held Monday on Mill Street. Robby Miller won the A trophy with a time of 33.15 seconds. Mike Smith won the B trophy with a time of 38.4 seconds.

Pulling more than twice their weight in the light class of the horse draw held Friday at the fairgrounds.

Two keen competitors in the Centennial Fishing Derby held on Saturday display their catches before setting out in their canoe for another try for 'the big one'. Left is Darrin Bree with a black bass, and right is Paul Nightengale with a pike. Winners were: heaviest pickerel, Donald McGregor; heaviest pike, Mitchell Comerford; heaviest bass, R G Caron. A coin toss broke a tie for the heaviest perch between Cliff Dupuis and Danny Sabourin. Fifty people entered the contest.

Soap box "Beetle Bomber" crashed into another vehicle during the soap box derby Monday. Fortunately no one was hurt and there was little damage to the cars.

The little boy conducts his own orchestra, in this case the band of the Governor-General Footguards, who played Saturday in Gemmill Park before an audience of about 1500.

A designated heritage site of the Almonte area, The Auld Kirk, held an open house on Sunday afternoon in honour of Almonte's Centennial celebrations. Here Joan Kerry, and two other trustees are seen welcoming visitors to the church.

Keith Blakeley is just finishing cooking a batch of pancakes at the pancake breakfast, run by the Almonte fire department, on Monday morning. The breakfast was the biggest ever and 1,500 people were served.