

Barr, Molinski, Petrocco line rack up 25 points against Navan

By Joe Banks,

Incredible would be an appropriate term to describe the way the Centennials' Barr/Dean Molinski/Paul Petrocco line played Friday night as the combination was responsible for 25 points in a single game during the team's contest against the Navan Flyers in Almonte.

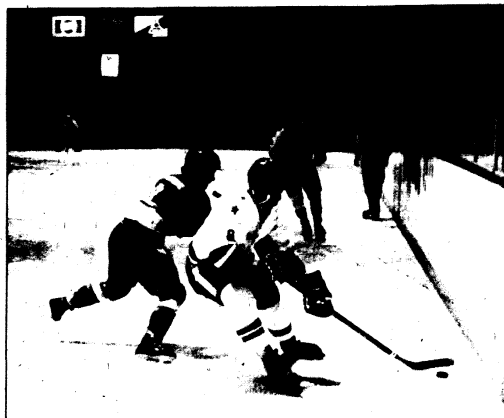

Barr picked up an amazing five goals and three assists, Molinski had four goals and five assists and Petrocco nailed down two goals and six assists in a game where the Centennials seemed to score at will against the hard-luck Flyers.

The Centennials reasserted its offence, and showed it was still something to be reckoned with as the team doubled the Flyers 14-7.

Starting off the scoring spree in the first period, Dave Barr got things going for John Barr and Shawn Gorman at 15:51. Dave Barr, Molinski and Petrocco scored minutes later at 6:57.

Then, the whirlwind broke loose at 6:46 when Petrocco scored from Molinski. Molinski picked one up from Dave Barr just seconds later at 6:29, and Molinski again at 3:13 from Dave Barr and Petrocco. The fiesta continued with just 40 seconds remaining with a goal from Dave Barr assisted by Gorman and Molinski.

Both teams went to the dressing room, Almonte with a six-goal lead and looking very strong.

The second period started with Almonte scoring again at 15:20 from Petrocco with help from Dennis Giacobbi and Dale 'Crash' Carson. At 8:21, it was Molinski's turn from Dave Peskett and Petrocco.

Navan finally got on the scoreboard at 6:46... and again at 5:37, again at 4:19. Almonte got one back at 3:34 from Dave Barr assisted by Petrocco and Molinski.

Cents came back again with 2:15 left. Daly

McLaughlin picked it up from Randy Peck and Peskett. Navan scored with just 18 seconds remaining to end the period 10-4 for the hometowners.

Navan started things off at 17:32, but the scoring spree continued in the final stanza when Molinski picked one up at the 10 minute mark from Petrocco and Dave Barr. Again, at 6:20, Martin Puckett picked one up from Greg Pierce and John Barr.

Cents increased the blow-out at 5:02 when Dave Barr put one home with aid from Petrocco and Molinski. A minute later, Navan negated that effort with a goal, but at 3:33, Pierce picked one up unassisted, and Navan scored their last at 1:15.

The game ended 14-7 for Almonte.

Centennials notes: The Barr/Molinski/Petrocco line really burned up the ice. Not only was the line responsible for 11 of the 14 goals scored for Almonte, but it scored three goals in 28 seconds and earned five in three shifts in the first period. Slimey

Dean Molinski, wearing No. 20, and Paul Petrocco, No. 19, tallied six of the Centennials goals in the game against the Navan Flyers Friday night. The Cents won 14-7. Molinski pocketed four goals and had five assists, while Petrocco earned two goals and six assists.

Thurston didn't play, but Mike Vanslot held his own against an occasionally determined Navan offence. The defence let Mike down, and it is becoming crystal clear that if the team hopes to make the play-offs this year, some overhauling is needed in that department. However, to help things along there, Jeff Farrell, who has come out of retirement to bolster the beleaguered defence, is back and Pat Emon, one of the few local boys the Cents (hopefully) will have on their roster come season end. He should be out for Tuesday's practice.

The three stars from Friday's game are as follows: Gilbert's first star, Dave Barr; Kerry's second star, Dean Molinski; John's Freshmart third star, Jeff Farrell.
